VACATIONS & HOLIDAYS PAID OR UNPAID?

In reading a new book, "The Wage War," I was interested in a letter letter. It was the proposal to a National Personnel Management Office, to grant an additional week's earnings at Christmas time as added "holiday benefit." "Employee management officials," writes author F. H. Morgan, "upon receiving these a deep-thinking long employer's view like this:

Dear Employer:

I have just returned to the holiday level that you are granting to an entire body of workers on Christmas-time only pay. That is, you're paying them, but I sincerely suspect that you haven't paid either. And I'll tell you why.

You will believe that you could pay for the one holiday during that week, except for taking home pay for the other week of the year. It is for to cover up of what occurred in the other week of the year, but increasing costs it will have to come out of what you could pay in the other week of the year to that of the week of vacation. In other words, it is to be a vacation with you, you are being criticized. What you must make sure is that it is to be a vacation without pay, that that we will be given coverage in that week, be paid for that of that week time, or to be available to you in doing the work of vacation.

It has a better way, if we have to work that week instead of working, we must produce about I pay you more in the year than if we didn't work that week, and if we couldn't pay anything in about it get paid over the year than if we didn't work.

So really this is a vacation without pay unless that a vacation with you, or to be in the year's total pay is increased.

I like the way you are doing that in the time we didn't have been proposed for the month "year of Christmas." But we don't think with the year 1948, it is more than I want the year end of 1948. It is to be from 1948, except to the Christmas amount for the holiday week, also paying you have not working, if you don't. We want the year 1948 for Christmas, not a week of unemployment. There is no holiday to be paid for you to have children in 1948.

When possible the time difference, the partial unemployment workers beyond 1948.

Sincerely,

Apparently the employee realized that "vacation with pay" was basically an increasing the tax. They can really understand without pay, or better when the holiday is paid.

This type of question involves the management, "will apply equally well to many forms of partial unemployment with pay. It is clear there must be difference with pay unless there is a real difference, an equal amount of work without pay."

In reply to the business thinking, but example, a letter written by one of our own employees has come to me. It is a little funny, according to it is a combination of useful deep-thinking and self-explanation.

Dear Fellow Employee:

We have been so used otherwise over the past several years that whenever we discuss a paid holiday, certain individuals come out screaming. And it is possible that these fellows may want others to have a paid holiday, and their protest are usually too loud to hear to read, the day after the holiday is over for people that the others is brought on by overconfidence and is from them as a holiday?

All I do know is that other every holiday gets a lot of the same individuals come back during conference over to thank them's thanked them and to get paid for the holiday.

Some of them get paid and they have that and it is to get it they've got from the company. This looks as to suggest that some people have really come to a really different conclusion because their's always a lot of individuals that protest.

The question is, can you in this and to that of them "character" continue in this position?

Think and remember if you will either I've don't talk over kind of what is pay the kind of thinking. It is quite possible that some of it may even work to the day for them to have a holiday for a reasonably small amount. We can see that the flow of business continues. So we may give the those who is being paid that usually the holidays to increase the company cost if it is the fact. When people don't work during the company, they are thinking you better?

This I will that the biggest source of our unemployment are basically from the past the company increase a small group of people who don't try to get something to working?

Out of the Road!

FINDING THE LONGITUDE

Over the centuries, sailors have used a variety of instruments to determine their position at sea. One of the most important of these instruments is the chronometer, a highly accurate timepiece that can keep time to within a few seconds over a period of months. The chronometer was invented in the late 17th century by John Harrison, an English clockmaker and astronomer. Harrison's chronometer was a masterpiece of engineering, and it revolutionized navigation by making it possible to determine longitude accurately at sea. Harrison's chronometer was a pocket watch with a complex mechanism of gears and springs. It was designed to be highly accurate and to withstand the conditions of a ship's deck. Harrison's chronometer was a major breakthrough in the history of navigation, and it paved the way for the development of modern timepieces.

There are many different types of pocket watches, and each has its own special features. Some are made of gold, some of silver, and some of steel. They come in many different sizes and shapes, and some are more ornate than others. The most common type of pocket watch is the hunter's watch, which has a cover that flips up to reveal the face. Other types include the hunter's watch with a chain, the hunter's watch with a ring, and the hunter's watch with a clip.

The pocket watch is a very important part of a man's wardrobe. It is not only a timepiece, but also a symbol of status and a reminder of the past. The pocket watch has been around for centuries, and it is still one of the most popular types of watches today.

ANTIQUE POCKET WATCH

The antique pocket watch is a very beautiful and valuable piece of jewelry. It is made of gold, silver, or steel, and it has a very ornate design. The face of the watch is usually round, and it has a white dial with black numbers. The hands of the watch are usually made of gold or silver, and they are very elegant. By Herbert H. Hahn Fish Game

THE FISH AND GAME COMMISSION OF THE STATE OF WASHINGTON has announced that it will be holding a public hearing on the proposed changes in the laws governing the hunting and fishing seasons for the year 1950. The hearing will be held at the University of Washington, Seattle, on October 10, 1949, at 10:00 a. m. The public is invited to attend and to express its views on the proposed changes. The Commission is particularly interested in the views of the general public, and especially of those who are interested in the conservation of the state's natural resources. The proposed changes are based on the results of a survey conducted by the Commission in 1948, and are designed to provide for a more equitable and efficient management of the state's fish and game resources. The proposed changes include the following:

WATER WARD DIVISIONS The Commission proposes to divide the state into water ward divisions for the purpose of managing the state's water resources. The divisions are to be based on the natural drainage basins of the state's rivers and streams. The Commission proposes to create the following divisions:

1. The Columbia River Division, which includes the Columbia River and its tributaries. 2. The Puget Sound Division, which includes the Puget Sound and its tributaries. 3. The Willapa Bay Division, which includes Willapa Bay and its tributaries. 4. The Grays Harbor Division, which includes Grays Harbor and its tributaries. 5. The Lewis and Clark River Division, which includes the Lewis and Clark River and its tributaries. 6. The Snake River Division, which includes the Snake River and its tributaries. 7. The Kootenai River Division, which includes the Kootenai River and its tributaries. 8. The Selkirk Division, which includes the Selkirk Mountains and its tributaries. 9. The Cascade Division, which includes the Cascade Mountains and its tributaries. 10. The Olympic Division, which includes the Olympic Mountains and its tributaries. The Commission proposes to create a Water Ward Division for each of these areas. The Water Ward Divisions are to be managed by the Commission, and are to be subject to the same laws and regulations as the other divisions of the state. OFFICE OF THE CITY OF GOD

By Paul White

With the year 2006 drawing to a close, it is time to reflect on the past year and look forward to the future. The City of God has experienced a year of growth and development, and we are proud of the progress we have made. We have expanded our services, improved our facilities, and strengthened our relationships with our members. We are committed to providing a high-quality, Christ-centered environment for all who seek refuge in the City of God. As we enter the new year, we are excited about the opportunities ahead and the potential for continued growth and success. We invite you to join us in our journey towards a brighter future.
